BOUTELLE & BURR, PROPRIETORS.

C. A. BOUTELLE, Editor

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle & Burr, and communications intended for publication should be addressed to "Editor of Whig and Courier."

THURSDAY, DEC. 18, 1884.

Three leading letters have been sent to Chief Justice Sumner Howard since the recent polygamy convictions in Utah.

The Senate has voted to admit Dakota to the Union of States, but the Democratic House will without doubt refuse to pass the bill, as the admission of Dakota means additional Republican strength!

The New York Sun cannot find a single Republican member-elect of the New York Legislature who will vote for Mr. Conkling for Senator. In other words, Mr. Conkling is no longer considered a Republican by those who were once his staunch supporters!

The exhibitors of Chicago are making war upon the pursuit of the theatrical advertising nuisance, ale ceaselessly posted in the streets. The moral tone of the city has reached a new stage under the corrupt Harrison regime and it bosses as though Cash were to go.

The Democratic papers do not at all relish the frantic efforts of their Mugwump allies to construct a cabinet for Mr. Cleveland. The "Bourbons" intend to run this administration and they have taken an early day to inform the Independent of that fact.

Congressman Morrison, of horizontal reduction fame, is working for the Democratic nomination for Senator from the State of Illinois. The late exhibition of Democratic tactics in that State ought to disgust all decent men and make the re-election of Gen. Logan certain.

It is reported that the corse of the Buffalo Courier has not been quite a fat-factory to the leaders of the Democracy since the nomination, and that the conduct of the paper is to be revolutionized, and new men put in charge with a view of making it essentially the home organ of Mr. Cleveland.

Senator Mitchell, of Pennsylvania, denies the report that he will resign his seat in the Senate to accept the appointment of U. S. Judge for the Pennsylvania Circuit, now filled by Judge McKennan who is now eligible to retirement having seventy years of age. Senator Mitchell says the matter is not in communication to him and if the appointment was tendered he should decline it.

General Sherman, in a chat about Secretary Varnum's death, published in Washington, stated that he had not used Senator Ingalls's name in connection with the Jefferson statement that Vance was in no way connected with the case, and that the coupling of his name with it was done by the press, that Ingalls unduly magnified the matter, and made a mountain out of it. He then reiterated the statement and, in the dispatches a few days ago, that when he is ready he will make a statement through the War Department, but not till the newspaper agitation has quieted down.

Mayor Hewitt has incurred much unfavorable comment by endeavoring to prevent any expression of the Chicago election to fall and the swearing in of Brand, through whose election, it was presumed, he expected to be chosen United States Senator. The sentiment in and out of his party has been of a character which seemed to discredit his political forecast. On Saturday he asked the case of the men accused of being concerned in the recent election fraud to go to the grand jury, and on Monday he discharged them. The Mayor then said he would only surrender the men pending their trial.

The Commercial, has the usual tirade concerning Mr. Blaine's letter in which he resigns as his reason for withdrawing his libel suit that a prosecution of the case would be fraught against the consolidated power of the Democratic party of the State of Indiana, but as the letter is given in the same edition and is able to speak for itself the offering denunciation of the editor of that paper will have no weight with any intelligent reader and the opinion of those like himself is of no consequence to say or the 9th. The assertion that citizens of Bangor had anything to do with the circulation of Mr. Cleveland's "record" is bunch. If the editor of the Commercial feels aggrieved in regard to the story of Mr. Cleveland's life he should at once call the Boston Advertiser as that was the first New England paper that published anything concerning it.

The Independent Committee of One Hundred, of the Boston Herald, proposes to extend its organization. It intends to aid the President to fight off the hungry and lobby Democracy; to compel Congress to pass civil and sundry measures; to frame a considerable number of laws itself; to direct appointments from President down; to manage municipal affairs; to exercise strict supervision of the Legislatures; to terrorize the bold and bad Republican party; to serve as a step-mother to the Democracy, and a godmother to the country, and to "personally conduct" mad mundane affairs. The contract is a large one, but it will be executed under the bonnet, to supervision of Master G. Frederick Williams. There is no reason why the public at large should trouble itself any more about politics. It has only to surrender itself to the thoughtful guardianship of the Independent Committee of One Hundred.

Our statement that the Southerners propose to make the most of their victory by getting their alleged claims against the Government in shape for future action is verified by the fact that these rebel claims continue to be introduced in the House. No less than nine bills to pay citizens of the late Southern Confederacy for property taken by the United States forces during the war were offered Monday. Five of them are to refer claims for lost property belonging to estates which have become bankrupt to the Court of Claims for an adjudication of the controversies arising over such estates. Besides these, Mr. Prior, of Alabama, offered two bills, one calling for $1,370 and the other for $2,007. Mr. Oates offered one requiring the payment of $25,000, and Mr. Rogers, of Arkansas, one for $6,500. The nine bills are for the benefit of citizens of Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia and Mississippi respectively, and they were all referred to the Committee on War Claims.

Let Us Have the Speech.

Since the recent election in which the Democratic candidate was elected by the gross frauds practiced in the Solid South, a majority of the Democratic leaders and the party organs have reached the wise conclusion that the least said about these nefarious methods the better it will be for the future welfare of their organization. Once in awhile, however, some member of the party refuses to listen to the advice of his colleagues and in spite of their efforts undertakes to excuse this blot upon the fair name of the Nation. A Washington despatch says:

Senator Brown, of Georgia, one of Mr. Ingalls's playfully alluded to him last session, "The Senator from Alaska," is understood to be preparing a speech showing that elections in Northern States are characterized by fraud, corruption and intimidation. He will also claim that these methods are never used in the South, and that stories to the effect are a great libel upon the Southern people. Some of the Senator's friends on the Democratic side of the chamber are trying to dissuade him from the purpose, but, if he persists, the Senate may witness another scene like that which occurred last session, when Mr. Ingalls hauled his colleague over the coals for so correcting the record to the disadvantage of the Kansas senator.

We hope the Senator from Georgia will not allow himself to be dissuaded from making his speech as it would open up a discussion in the Senate that would result in placing this matter before the people in its proper light. The question is one that must be met, and the people are to be called upon to decide whether the election of the South shall continue to be carried by the shot gun and list and enlistment of illegal voters in direct violation of the Constitution of the United States, any discussion that will tend to lay before them the exact methods that make the recent election in the South a mere farce will receive the commendation of all law abiding citizens.

No one denies that election frauds are committed in the North, for as much as we may deplore it, we are forced to admit that now and then the Democrats of the North attempt to emulate the bad example set them by their Southern brethren, and try to thwart the will of the people by such attempts as in Maine when the Garcelon ring sought to steal the State by the perpetration of the most glaring fraud, and more recently in Chicago where a bold conspiracy was organized to steal a United States Senator. But there is one essential difference in Democratic frauds in the North and the notorious frauds in the South. In the North fraud is not permitted to succeed and the perpetrators of the Chicago outrage are now on the high road to the penitentiary while in the South the disfranchisement of the negro is sustained by public sentiment, and the villains who shoot innocent men for the crime of opposing them at the polls not only go unpunished, but as in the case of Wheeler, who shot Mr. Matthews, are selected for political honors.

Again we urge Mr. Brown to deliver his speech as he would thus be the instrumental instrument through which much good could be brought about.

A False Charge.

Since the election of Mr. Cleveland the South has naturally been very jubilant over its victory and frequently says a hot-headed Confederate gives vent to his enthusiasm by a particularly offensive speech. One of these "effusions of a spoke" said "The U. of the South is down in war but that is not to go down in the honor," and how Senator Lamar is reported as saying that the South, simply recognizes in the result of the election the placing in power, for the first time since the war of an administration not hostile to her, or in other words that Republican administrations since the war have been hostile to the South. The New York Tribune takes up the remark and shows that the Republican administration of the Government instead of being hostile to the South has shown a tendency to favor and by any other Government. It says: The Senator's own career furnishes a complete refutation of the charge. From a sketch of his life which appears in the Congressional Directory for 1884 we extract the following:

Lucius Q. C. Lamar was elected to the XXXVth and XXXVIth Congresses from the United States and resigned in 1860 to take a seat in the Secession Convention of his State (Mississippi) that passed the ordinance of secession. He was appointed Commissioner to the Confederate Government by Jefferson Davis, and was promoted to the Colonelcy of the 19th Regiment Mississippi Infantry. He was entrusted by President Davis with important diplomatic mission to Russia, was elected to the XLIIIth Congress of the United States and was re-elected to the XLVth Congress; and was elected to the United States Senate as a Democrat and took his seat March 5, 1877; was re-elected in 1882.

The facts above given dispose of Mr. Lamar's preposterous libel on the Republican party. If Republican administration since the war had been hostile, or even without being positively hostile, had taken just without being unrelentingly Lamar instead of being to-day in the United States Senate, the peer of Hamilton, would be a political outcast, debarred from voting and from holding office, branded as a traitor without a country. And yet this Rebel Colonel who, not content with taking up arms against the Union, went beyond the seas with the design of poisoning foreign sentiment actually complains that the Republican party has been "hostile" to the South!

Nor has Mr. Lamar been an exception to the general rule. His fellow traitors have also been restored to all the rights and privileges which they enjoyed before the war—Jefferson Davis, even, has not been hanged on a sour apple tree or any other sort of ex-post-facto gallows. The Constitution of the United States confers on Congress the right of declaring the punishment for treason. But no Republican Congress since the war has availed itself of that right to make treason odious. The spirit of Republicans touching the South has shown itself in unanimity and not in punishment. Republican administration has been characterized by mercy and forgiveness, by the olive branch and not by the club.

In asserting the contrary Mr. Lamar is as absurd as the prodigal son would have been if, after filling himself with fatted calf, he had observed that his father's administration had been hostile to him.

As the unexplainable substitution of the word "subject" for "some" in the plank has changed the entire scope of the following paragraph we reproduce it with the necessary correction:

Senators Hale and Frye and Congressmen Reed, Dingley, Milliken and Boutelle says the Lewiston Journal, presented last week a large number of petitions of soldiers and others for the passage of the Mexican pension bill as amended by the Senate in the interest of Union soldiers. At a caucus of the Republican members of the House it was unanimously voted to omit no efforts to secure the passage of this bill at the present session. An effort will be made in a few days to reach the bill and pass it. The most important feature of the bill is that it pensions soldiers who faithfully served and who are dependent on their labor for support, for existing disabilities without requiring them to prove that the disability was incurred in service. There are thousands of most deserving cases where it is impossible to prove that their disability on account of disease originated in the service. A soldier who fell ill his duty and is now disabled and in need, is deserving of a pension whether his disease originated in the service or not.

Last week, Hon. J. R. Bodwell gave a check of a thousand dollars, the full amount of his subscription as a donation to aid in building the new Home for the Industrial School for Girls, at Hallowell. It was a generous act for a laudable purpose, and says the Kennebec Journal, it is hoped that such an example may make others do likewise.

THE TENNESSEE PURITANS.

Schmidt, Rabbi of the Leading Cincinnati Temple Will be Hen for First Shot by the South South.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 17 The State Republican committee has issued an address congratulating the party upon the results achieved in Tennessee at the recent election. The address states that Tennessee will be probably the first State to secede from the Solid South, and this act of secession will be worth millions of dollars to her mineral wealth alone.

Attention is called to the fact that Democratic party leaders in both divisions upon the State and subdivisions, through dishonest State and County officials have squandered large amounts of public funds put into the treasury by the burdened people. The committee announces that the party will in each county elect 100 members of the Legislature, and in each district of Congressional district, a majority of the Republican delegates to the Chicago convention

A Desperate Deed.

A BOLD ATTEMPT AT MURDER AT LISBON—THE INTENDED VICTIM ESCAPES BY A LUCKY CHANCE—THE HUNT OF THE OFFICERS—A HAT FULL OF SHOT HOLES—MR. SMALL'S RELATION OF HIS AFFAIR

[Special to the Sewiston.]

Monday was pay day at the Worumbo mill, Lisbon Falls. In the evening, Granville Small, who works in the mill and resides a mile and a half from the village, was going home from his work, when going up a rise in the road, in the woods, just before reaching home, he saw an object in the darkness, which crossed the road, just in front of his horse.

A little startled, he whipped up the horse, and at the moment the owner was an explosion, and he felt a numbness in his head. It proved that the object he saw was a man, and that a shot gun had been discharged at him from a distance, probably not more than a dozen feet. A physician was summoned, who found that seven shot had entered the neck, inflicting such wounds that will not prove fatal.

Steps were at once taken to look after the assailant. It was found that he wore a new pair of rubbers, by the marks of which he was tracked three-fourths by a mile. It then became so dark that the search was postponed to Tuesday.

The city marshal, a party started, and will endeavor to follow up the track.

It is supposed the attack was made for the purpose of robbery.

Mr. Small was up and out of doors, Tuesday morning. At about eight o'clock he met and talked with Sheriff Smith of Auburn, Deputy Marshal O'Brien and Capt. Frohock of the Lewiston police force. He came to the door when asked for, and came outside the front yard. Mr. Small told a simple story of the affair to the police.

He said that he received his pay at Worumbo mill at shutting down, and after paying a few small bills around town in Lisbon Falls, started to his home in Webster, which is situated a little beyond Cowan's Tavern, on the road to Litchfield, only about two miles out of Lisbon Falls. He drove along slowly on account of the road being very slippery and the night dark. The horse which he was driving is also blind. He had on the dasher of his wagon a lantern and reflector that cast a bright light on the horse's feet and a road to go by the road. He had passed quite a distance out of the Little River and was in quite a thick piece of woods. He was thinking of no such thing as an attack. He heard a commotion in the bushes on the left side of the road, about half the distance to the top of the horse's heads. Jumping up the road he saw a pair of legs cross the road. They stepped with a long stride as I hurriedly. The upper part of the body he didn't see. The reflector in the Tucson brought out the feet and legs distinctly. Their owners passed to the left hand side of the road and evidently stood there waiting for him to go by. He paid no attention to him and not a word was spoken.

He started the horse almost as he passed him. He thinks this is what saved his life. He heard the explosion. He was not, he told the officers, over fifteen feet away from the man. It seemed as if the powder filled every car. He felt a little trembling in his head. He heard no whistle. His hat fell slightly on his head. The horse jumped. He felt the blood trickle down his neck. He didn't stop to see his assailant. He hurried his horse to the nearest house. He supposed it was innate to feel that with the wound, the extent of which he had no means of judging. Head he'd see the man again.

No further attempt was made to rob him. He reached the house of Dunham Hall, and drove up to the door. They sent one of them down for the doctor. Others made up a hunt for the would-be murderer, except that of informing deputy sheriff Watts. Mr. Small appeared to be comfortable. The doctor examined his head and picked out seven grains of shot. He showed where the shot went. It was except only a flesh wound.

Mr. Small showed his hat to the sheriff and police, Tuesday morning. Over twenty shot passed through it. There was one spot on the top, where a hole had been made as big as a ten cent piece. It is evident that the man overshot. Probably the starting of the horse prevented the aim.

Mr. Small is a young man between twenty-five and thirty years of age and married, living with his parents. He has no quarrel with any one and knows of no one who owes him a grudge. His total cost is only a little personal.

No hunt was made Monday night, owing to the darkness.

The sheriff and the police looked over the ground on Tuesday night, but found no trace of the villain.

Deputy Marshal O'Brien and Capt. French did not reach the scene at noon, Tuesday. Capt. French passed the night at Lisbon Falls, owing to the slippery condition of the roads and a smooth-shod horse.

HAIR RENEWER

was the first preparation perfectly adapted to core diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfillment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction.

The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to put forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.
